THE WORLD'S INDEBTEDNESS TO ENGINEERS.

Since the days of the Romans, whose motto was that the three essentials to civilisation were roads, more roads, and still more roads, the close connection between cheap transport and the amenities, and indeed the necessities of society, has been realised, but much more clearly by the engineer and business man than by the public at large. In fact, ignorant publicists have been known to aver that the masses of the people have derived no benefit whatever from the work of the engineer, which has made it possible to transport meat some 8000 to 12,000 miles, from New Zealand or the Argentine, and enables wheat grown west of Winnipeg to find its way into British walls. One hundred and fifty years ago 20 miles was greater than the limit beyond which the cheaper kinds of food could not be profitably conveyed by land, and though sea freights were much cheaper than land carriage, imported goods could not find their way far from their ports of entry, save at rates prohibitive to all but the more costly class of commodities. The cost with the present day is extraordinary, and though much, no doubt, yet remains to be done, it is most unlikely that any equally striking step forward can be made in the years to come. We can look for a steadily step-by-step improvement, but the problem of marine transport, in normal times this is extraordinarily cheap, but there is nevertheless a sustained endeavour to reduce still further operating costs. A few years ago there was a feeling somewhat prevalent that for marine propulsion the future lay with the Diesel engine, but further experience has proved that this type of motor is desirable only in somewhat special circumstances. Indeed, some engineers claim that even where oil fuel is available, it is now more profitable to use this under boilers than to install Diesel engines even of moderate size. Of course, in the case of very large powers, the Diesel engine is admittedly inferior, all things considered, to the steam-turbine.

It is, nevertheless, of interest to note that Messrs. Burmeister and Wain are reported to have received orders for motor-ships which will keep them occupied till the end of 1921. Included in the list are six ships of 12,000 tons deadweight, having motors of 5000 horse-power.

The very high economies realised with the steam turbine in land installations have naturally initiated inquiries into how far similar results may be obtainable at sea. A few years ago engineers had by no means abandoned the hope of devising an efficient high-speed propeller, thus abolishing the "clog" which the standard type had established on the speed of rotation needed to secure an efficient turbine. This anticipation appears now to have been abandoned, and, indeed, the recent elucidation of the propeller theory, which has been effected by those interested in aerial navigation, gives reason to believe that the hope is little likely to be resuscitated. All hopes are now centred upon the introduction of some kind of reduction gear, mechanical, electrical, or hydraulic, between the turbine and the propeller-shaft. The first-named has the advantage of a very high efficiency. The electric gear, the hydraulic systems are less efficient per se, but have some compensating advantages. Moreover, the claim is made that they will permit of the use of a more economical steam plant than now adopted with mechanical gears—Engineering.

SECRETS OF THE SEA.

FIRST UNDERWATER FILM

PICTURES TAKEN.

One of the most remarkable series of motion pictures, seen in London was shown recently by the Trans-Atlantic Film Company, Ltd., and Chevalier A. B. B. at a private view in the Philharmonic Hall, Great Portland Street.

The films are the pictorial record of the work of the Williamson Expedition to secure submarine motion pictures, and the pictures were taken in the depths of the Atlantic Ocean among the Bahama Islands. This was made possible by two ingenious inventions of the brothers George and Ernest Williamson, sons of Capt. Charles Williamson, himself an inventor as well as a seaman, of Norfolk, Virginia. There are a submarine photographic chamber and a deep-sea electric lighting installation which enable cinematograph photographs to be taken underwater both by day and night.

Among the pictures shown were studies of natives of the Bahamas far down under water diving for conch shells. Their bodies showed up, weird and green among the fishes in the light of the battery of 2,000 candle power Cooper-Hewitt mercury vapour lamps, which are lowered into the sea for night photography. More interesting was the spectacle of all sorts of strange fish in their deepest haunts, including one with markings that bear a curious resemblance to the American flag. A long film records an underwater trip which the Governor of the Bahamas and Lady Haddon-Smith made in the submarine chamber from New Providence to the island of San Salvador. Among other things it shows strangely beautiful coral formations, submarine meadows, and gardens, with shoals of queer fish swimming and feeding among the sea-groves, a submarine forest, the discovery of the wreck of a blockade runner of 1863, and the coral foundations of Watling's Island (San Salvador). Other pictures show sponge-gathering in the deep and the exploration of the old wreck, and there is a final thrilling one of an undersea fight between a man and a big shark, which ends with the death of the shark.

How THE PICTURES WERE TAKEN.

The Williamson invention for securing submarine pictures consists of a flexible tube 50 ft. long and 3 ft. in diameter, which passes into the water from a barge or ship with a specially-constructed well in the bottom. The tube is composed of a series of concentric bands of malleable iron, which overlap like the scale of plates hinged together, the metal skeleton being covered with a waterproof fabric of canvas and rubber. This forms a vertical passage-way down which a man may climb like a ladder. It has the strength to resist water pressure and the flexibility that is essential, since a rigid tube would be broken if dragged beneath a moving vessel.

At its lower end the tube expands into a spherical observation chamber 5 ft. in diameter, one side of which is fitted with a large funnel-shaped window with glass of special thickness and clearness. This observation chamber is made of cast iron, weighs four tons, and is raised and lowered by chains, which control its position according to the wishes of the photographer or observer. The tube above closes up like a conical cone, and the chamber is lowered to greater depths as the bottom folds are squeezed together by the pressure of water until at considerable depths a section of the tube that would be 11 ft. long when fully extended is compressed into about 3 ft.

six weeks ago, Mr. STONE, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, described the President's attitude in these words: "If a German submarine were to sink a belligerent merchantman, Germany would consider this a lawful act, and would be disposed to hold Germany strictly accountable, and if Germany persisted in her attitude he would be disposed to sever relations with Germany and submit the matter to Congress which, under the Constitution, is the war-making body." This stage of the discussion has now been reached and the result of the deliberations of the joint session of the Senate and House of Representatives, which the President has convened to consider the final Note to Germany on the subject, will be awaited throughout the world with eager interest.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

To-morrow being Good Friday there will be no issue of the China Mail on that day.

The number of cases in the Magistracy during 1915 was 12,263 compared with 11,034 in 1914, and the revenue was $75,130.13 as compared with $92,109.34 for 1914.

The Hon. Mr. E. S. Shellim has kindly presented prizes for the best Team and Individual scores in the Inter-Services shoot to be held at King's Park Range on Easter Monday.

The ladies of the Union Church Work party sent several parcels of socks, shirts, and articles for Hospital use by the English Mail, to Col. Gordon Hall, R.A.M.C., Headquarters, Abyssinia, Cairo.

When the Canadian Pacific Co.'s s.s. Edinboro of Japan arrived at Nagasaki on the morning of the 10th from Shanghai en route to Vancouver, two cases of small-pox—foreign children—were found in the first-class and the ship was disinfected before going up the harbour, her departure for Kobe being delayed several hours.

The Japanese papers state that the hull insurance of the Chimo Maru amounts to Yen 4,000,000 by a London Company through the Tokyo Marine Insurance Co. Another statement in the Japanese Press is that the Board of Directors of the T.K.K. instructed the Captain to abandon the steamer. In reply, the Captain telegraphed that although the steamer was in danger of sinking there was still room for salvage operations if the weather improved. The Board of Directors therefore determined to continue the salvage operations and to despatch Engineer Kageyama with the salvage boat Koukyu Maru.

Seashoreers are requested to be in their seats in good time at the Oratorio Selections which will be given in St. John's Cathedral at 9.15 to-morrow (Good Friday) evening by a choir of over eighty voices. The soloists are Miss White, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Goldsmith, Mrs. Owen, Miss Wilkes, Mrs. Robertson, Mr. A. W. Armstrong, Mr. H. E. Muriel, Mr. J. W. White, Mr. C. E. H. Bevis, Mr. C. Tucker, Mr. A. N. Bortles and Mr. A. J. England. The collection will be divided between the fund for blind soldiers and sailors and the Cathedral Organ Fund; last year the collection at Spohr's "Last Judgment" amounted to just over $650—the record for the Cathedral—and it is hoped a similarly large amount will be obtained on this occasion.

B. A. T. PACIFIC SERVICE.

The British-American Tobacco Company is requested to have acquired a fleet of steamers that is soon to be put in service on the Pacific. Four big modern boats are to be put on the run first. An agent for the B.A.T. steamer line has already been appointed at Shanghai.

CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

[BEFORE HIS HONOUR THE CHIEF JUSTICE.]

ALLEGED SEDITION.

CHARGED EDITOR TAKES OF THE "DEVIL OF FALSHOOD."

Charged with publishing matter calculated to excite disorder in China, in a vernacular organ known as Yin Cheung Po, a Chinese Editor named Wong Hon Tau, pleaded not guilty.

Mr. G. N. Orme Crown Prosecutor, appeared on behalf of the Crown and Mr. F. C. Jenkin, instructed by Mr. J. H. Gardner, defended. The jury was—

E. L. Howe, E. H. Ray, J. M. Soares, F. N. V. Ribeiro Junr., L. G. Ribeiro, J. H. Mead, R. B. Smith.

The articles complained of appeared January 11th last and were as under:—
LUNG TAI KWONG HAS FLED.

[By His Honor.]

Now the Government of the nation has been inspired by the industrial traitor and we can prophesy the date of the destruction of the nation. Uprightness has all disappeared and the flame of wickedness has broken out all of a sudden. This will surely bring horror to the heart of all who are men, and make their faces blue. What should we do for the salvation of our nation? Lung and Cheung have sided with the rebel and devoted their energies to the oppression of the people. In order to fasten that upon them, they care nothing for the safety of the nation. They have bought the services of men to support them in all actions detrimental to righteousness, with the result that the majestic metropolis of the Province is filled with gloomy portents of destruction. They have accumulated their poison on the top of the "Kun Yum" Hill and centralized their troops at the foot of the City of "Nei Yung" (Canton), treating the people and the country as their enemies. During the last few days the troops of righteousness have everywhere arisen, but relying on their defended position they are still ready to try the test of arms and make it appear that they will never be ready to leave Kwangtung until it has been entirely ruined. What great animosity those brigands have against Kwangtung! and how unkindly our Kwangtung has been in falling in with those brigands! Now numbers of urgent telegraphic reports have been received from various districts, and we have constantly heard of victories of the Revolutionary Troops. It is perhaps the plan of the Republican Army to assault various districts first before they attack Canton, so as to shake Lung and Cheung helpless and exhaust their power, but leave them a road to escape, in order that the dense population of Canton may not be involved in the calamity of deep water and hot fire. We people can only pray that the brigands will make away without killing anybody or causing bloodshed, which would indeed be a great boon. But destructive work is work that should be done only when very necessary. Now supposing the rebellious brigands all take to flight and republicanism is restored, all the existing people will be busy in strengthening the province, and there will not be any disturbance. Being however, in a strategic position and a defended corner, the brigands practice wickedness and indulge in oppression. Indeed the longer they are allowed to remain, the more the life and property of us people will be endangered, and the longer the traitors are cherished, the sooner the change of disturbance and danger will draw near. Take this as an illustration. They have gathered wandering rascals and beggars, to whom they gave military uniforms and sharp weapons, allowing them every day to disturb us people and to indulge in opium-smoking and gambling. They have also afforded us special protection and suffered them to live on the wealth of the people. All this was merely intended for the security of their own interests and honours, but no regard whatever was paid to the injury that was done to the general population. Now since they would brave death for a single man and put to death any person who differs from them in opinion, if we do not condole with the people and punish their crime, we can never protect our own person, and still less can we ever establish our nation. In this 20th century in which the power of the people has much developed, should anybody practice autocracy over the people and indulge in oppression, making it every day his business to subdue the people, the history of the East and West shows that trouble is bound to follow. How much more will disturbance arise, when those brigands in support of a single man, stir up the storm (of trouble) and fan up the flame (of wickedness) against the people? Now the Heaven-sent troops of vengeance have set forth to punish such a ruler as was "Kil" or "Tay", and before long the great soul of the embryo false Emperor will go back to Heaven. The Military and Civil Governors in most of the provinces have surrendered on the approach of our troops, and all the people who formerly supported and cried blindly in favour of monarchy have now disappeared leaving no trace, and become silent. How is it that those wicked rascals still hope to rely on their defended position and to offer us opposition? In the night of the 7th inst., raising that his troops had changed their mind, and that their righteousness could not be copied with, one of the two brigands hurriedly rushed out and fled like a rat. The Brigand who fled on the 19th of the 9th moon of the "San Hoi" year still hopes to combine all his men to do evil to our Kwangtung. Unless we rid ourselves of him as an early date, that brigand alone will be responsible, if— which Heaven forbid—trouble arises in the future. "But," someone says, "in the San Hoi year that brigand declared that he would die for the City just as the brigand who has now fled has declared; but his traces were nowhere to be found, when the first sign of the Righteous Troops appeared." Will, then, that brigand be a fugitive criminal for a second time?

The second article contained the following:—

"Who is Yuan Shi Kai? He is a false man. During the false Ching Dynasty beginning service as false Taotai he became false Viceroys of Chihli and was further admitted to the rank of false Minister in the Cabinet. Later his false-ness met with a set back and he was allowed to go back to his native home of falsehood. He was taken back by the Manchus. He led a false army to attack Wu-chang, but surely after he forced (the Emperor) of the false (Ching) dynasty to abdicate, the evil habit of falsehood and one followed another mistake of practicing falsehood. He manipulated the population in his own order to enable himself to become a false Emperor and by false decrees he conferred false honours on all officials, and the latter returned thanks for his false favour by false 'kowtowings.' Yuanman offered him opposition and sent him an ultimatum. Yuan hoped to tranquillize and pacify Yuanman by his skill in falsehood and having failed in his plan he further had false proclamations issued in the name of the Chief Officials of the various provinces denouncing the Yuanman rising and threatening its rebel army. Being unsuccessful in his attempt to become a false Emperor he may well become a false traitor and cause the world to smile at his false-ness for ever."

The Crown Prosecutor said the prisoner was charged under an Ordinance of 1907 the object of which was to enable the authorities of the Colony to deal with persons who published matter which would have a tendency to create internal dissensions in China to which the Colony was to some extent an appendage and likely to become a refuge for people who were dissatisfied with the policy of that country.

Mr. Orme went on to suggest that the word "traitor," referred to Yuan Shi Kai.

Mr. Jenkin interposed, submitting that the Prosecuting Counsel could not explain to the jury what was his own opinion. If he was going to interpret the article Mr. Jenkin submitted that Prosecuting Counsel would have to call evidence.

The Chief Justice said that was the only way that the Crown could prove its case. His lordship did not think evidence would have to be adduced. It was merely the suggestion of the advocate for the Crown. The Ordinance was a unique one and so far as he knew had no parallel in any part of the world.

Mr. Jenkin:—If you say that a unique ordinance gives a unique practice by Counsel, I will say no more.

Mr. Orme said if there was any obscurity, he would be loath to express his own opinion.

Proceeding with the case, for the Crown, Mr. Orme said they had no reason to doubt that the Government of China was in the hands of the President Yuan Shi Kai, and by "influential traitor" Yuan, he submitted, was clearly indicated. During the last few months there had been a rebellion in certain provinces. Cheung, who was the Civil Governor of Kwangtung, was no longer in office. Things are very much in the melting pot and went on Prosecuting Counsel and I shall be in some doubt as to what crime as authority now. Counsel thought the word "brigands" referred to Lung and Cheung.

The Chief Justice commented on the frequency with which the word "false" appeared in the second article and asked if the word in Chinese was the same all through. Prosecuting Counsel answered "Yes" adding that it was a sort of refrain. He went on to comment of the "falsity of the devil."

The Chief Justice wittily observed that the word devil was also a term of endearment applied by the Chinese to foreign residents (laughter).

Mr. Orme said he had quite forgotten that. The word did not mean anything but he thought the Chinese really misunderstood the word. They said "fan kwai," but just meant something strange.

Continuing Mr. Orme said it would be for the jury to decide if the articles were calculated to create disorder. All sorts of disorder were rapidly spread by those who were new to the study of politics and did not really understand the difficulties a Government had to face in organizations which were just in their infancy. Articles of that description would cause disorders, tumults and probably rebellions if they were not checked and it was the duty of the Colony to a friendly power to assist as far as was in their power the de facto rulers of the country and particularly by checking any seditious publications, which were likely to cause dissensions. He would not like to lay down that the officials of Kwangtung justified any of the evil remarks made about them in those articles. Since the articles were written rebellion and disorder had to some extent spread in the neighbouring kingdom and at a time like the present great care should be exercised in the Colony in controlling matter which might cause trouble to a neighbouring friendly power. It was no excuse for the publisher of a paper to say he was young and ignorant of others; therefore he was not to be blamed. He would be blamed, and it was the intention of the Legislature to do its utmost to stop it. If a man did so he did so at his own risk. It had been held in England that no person could cast reflections on neighbouring rulers, beyond reasonable criticism.

The evidence of the Court translator was then taken.

Answering Mr. Jenkin, witness said it was the view of the Chinese citizens that a monarchical government was not wanted.

Witness answered in the affirmative, "Do you read the 'China Mail'?" asked Counsel.

Witness again answered "yes" but, in reply to another question as to whether he saw last night's issue he said, "No," as he was engaged on other police work.

Witness therefore did not see that in "China Mail" of last night Yuan Shi Kai was referred to as "a serpent's egg," and a traitor, and that he had broken his oath.

The jury were absent only a few seconds and returned a verdict of not guilty. Prisoner was discharged.

CANTATA AT UNION CHURCH.

A large congregation was present at Union Church last night to hear the Cantata "Olivet to Cavalry" given by a choir of upwards of forty voices. The soloists were Miss Wilks (soprano), Mr. H. E. Muriel (soprano), Mr. S. Gray (baritone), and Mr. J. Goodall and Mr. Handiside (tenors) and the whole interpretation was very praiseworthy indeed, reflecting no little credit on the organizer, Mr. E. J. Chapman, who was responsible for its production. The baritone recitatives by Mr. Muriel in the second half of the Cantata was a distinct feature. The chorus was composed of the choir of Union Church, assisted by the Wesleyan Church choir and other friends. The collection was in aid of the new organ fund.

STOP PRESS NEWS.

AMERICA & GERMANY.

THE NOTE SENT.

WASHINGTON, April 19.

President Wilson has sent a Note warning Germany that unless attacks in violation of international law against American citizens carrying Americans is stopped, diplomatic relations will be severed.

LATER.

The Note is regarded as practically an ultimatum. Although it does not contain a time limit, an immediate answer is demanded.

President Wilson thinks the question at issue is one for all neutral nations.

BRITISH EXCHEQUER BONDS.

LONDON, April 20.

Mr. McKenna stated in the House of Commons that to the end of April over £16,000,000 sterling Exchequer Bonds have been sold to half a million applicants.

ZEPPELIN PILOTS KILLED.

LONDON, April 20.

Mr. Tennant has stated in the House of Commons that since January 1st four pilots have been killed and one injured in Zeppelin raids.

STEEL HELMETS.

LONDON, April 20.

Mr. Tennant, replying to a question in the House of Commons, said he understood that steel helmets were unsuitable for use in Mesopotamia.

THE NEW LIQUOR DUTIES.

A WORD FOR THE LICENSED DEALERS.

H.E. the GOVERNOR, speaking at a meeting up the Legislative Council this afternoon referred to the recently imposed additional liquor duties. He said he would like to refer to the remarks he made at the last meeting of the Council concerning the increased liquor duties. He said that somehow or other information of the increase had leaked out and he said he did not know where to lay the blame and that probably the result would be a loss to the revenue. He would now like to say that investigations show that although the information leaked out and although advantage was taken of the information by some persons, the licensed dealers—that was to say, the merchants of the Colony—were in no wise concerned with the withdrawal from bond of liquors in order to escape duty. He would like to mention that, because people might think that they had been responsible for a certain loss of revenue which would have accrued.

CHAOTIC CONDITION OF KWANGTUNG.

Since he was speaking on the subject of revenue he would like to mention that owing to the unhappy condition of affairs in the neighbouring province they were likely to suffer a great loss in connection with the consignment contract. As they were aware, it brought them in considerable revenue; they sold the soil to the cultivators of mulberry trees in the Shantung district. It had been impossible for some days to deliver the soil and instead of getting a revenue of between $4,000 and $5,000 a month they had to incur the expense of conveying the stuff out of the Colony and dumping it into the sea. The resultant loss was somewhere between $9,000 and $10,000 a month. That, of course, was a mere fraction in comparison with the loss entailed by the chaotic condition in which the Kwangtung Province, now found itself.

FIGHTING AT KONGMOON AND SUNHUI.

RICE FAMINE THREATENING.

Telegraphic communication with Kongmoon has been cut. Information reaching Hongkong this morning is to the effect that about 300 of General Lung's troops held a strong position on Dog Hill, resisting continual attacks by National Defence troops, who finding themselves unable to take the hill by storm, have encircled it with part of their gird, and on the 19th inst. sent the other part to attack the city of Sunhui (situated about six miles from Kongmoon). The Chai Kwan (General Lung's troops) are about 300 strong at this place also. Fighting continued there the whole day. Reinforcements for the Chai Kwan are on their way from Canton and are expected to reach Sunhui to-day.

A rice famine prevails in the villages of the Sunhui district. One dollar buys only five catties. The Sunhui Commercial Society in Hongkong is considering means of getting rice to the district to save the villagers from starvation.

CABINET CRISIS IN ENGLAND.

A "NATIONAL DISASTER" THREATENED.

LONDON, April 19.

Mr. Asquith announced in the House of Commons that he regretted that there were still material points of disagreement in the Cabinet, and that these were not settled by agreement the result must be the break-up of the Government.

The Government, he added, is united in believing that such an event would be a national disaster of the most formidable kind.

There were general cheers from the Liberals and many from the Unionists, but there was some Unionist dissent.

Mr. Asquith added that he is in hope that this may be averted by a few days' more deliberation and for that purpose the House would adjourn till Tuesday.

Sir Edward Carson said that while he regretted delays in the important question of requiring he would be the last to suggest that time should not be given to enable further counsel to be obtained. He made no criticism of the course pursued by Mr. Asquith and would be satisfied if the position of his own motion was not prejudiced.

Mr. Asquith, replying to a question, said he thought he could assure the House that there would be no further delay beyond Tuesday.

DISCUSSION IN HOUSE OF LORDS.

LONDON, April 20.

In the House of Lords, a resolution was moved by Lord Milner in favour of General Compulsion. The noble lord strongly contended that it was the only possible way out of the recruiting difficulty. He considered that compulsion, supported by a majority of Britons, was simple, honourable and just.

Lord Crewe emphasised the complexity of the problem. The Government had been obliged to view the question from every possible angle. He hoped they would be able to make a statement to-day.

CURRENT REMOIRS.

LATER.

The excitement in the Lobby yesterday was reminiscent of the Irish crisis, members remaining and discussing numberless rumours long after the House had risen.

This was reflected in the perplexing and contradictory statements in the papers, which, however, agree that the Cabinet is confronted with an extraordinarily difficult position. On the one hand, Mr. Lloyd George and the Unionist members of the Cabinet will resign unless general compulsion is adopted, and on the other hand the Labourite Ministers will go if the Cabinet decides in favour of general compulsion.

Moreover, while the War Office is represented as insistent on compulsion, it is stated that the Admiralty has emphasised that the needs of the Fleet must be first considered in the recruiting modifications. "More" men cannot be spared from the shipyards.

A POSSIBLE COMPROMISE.

LATER.

The Times states that late last night a new Recruiting Committee consisting of Mr. Asquith, Mr. Lloyd George, Lord Kitchener, Mr. Bonar Law and Mr. Henderson reached a compromise to the effect that general compulsion will not be adopted now, but later if it is required in the national interest. It is believed that this will be approved by the Cabinet to-day. But some politicians believe that the crisis will recur after Easter.

The Daily Chronicle takes a gloomy view. It declares that some resignations are inevitable to-day. Mr. Asquith may boldly decide to carry on by a reconstruction on a Liberal and Labour basis, while among the possibilities is the creation of a Unionist Government, including Mr. Lloyd George. This would involve a general election in the month of May.

This view, however, was apparently contradicted by the late development of a compromise.

AMERICA AND GERMANY

RELATIONS ON THE VERGE OF RUPTURE.

ARMY RESERVE OF A MILLION MEN DECIDED UPON.

WASHINGTON, April 20.

The statement is made by officials that the President will fully advise the House of the Foreign Affairs Committee of Congress before breaking off relations with Germany.

It is significant that President Wilson invited these Committees and the Republican Congressmen to a Conference at White House on the morning prior to the President's departure for the Capitol.

The President's address to Congress is believed to be a strong indictment of Germany's lawlessness, despite her pledges.

The call for a joint session has electrified Congress, officials and diplomats.

Almost immediately afterwards the Senate passed a Bill providing for an Army reserve of a million men.

The consensus of opinion is that breaking point is nearer than ever before.

THE BRITISH AIRCRAFT SITUATION.

LORD CURZON'S REPORT.

LONDON, April 19.

Mr. Asquith announced in the House of Commons that Lord Curzon, on behalf of the Government, has carefully examined the whole aircraft situation and presented a Report recommending large changes in organisation, which the Cabinet is considering. He could not say when a decision would be reached.

BIG BATTLE IN GALICIA.

DESPERATE GERMAN ATTACKS.

FAIL.

PETROGRAD, April 20.

A communiqué states that large forces of the enemy desperately assaulted Popovomogila, in Galicia on the 18th inst. One attack alone had a front of a mile and a half.

All were repulsed with heavy losses. When the Russians carried Popovomogila on the 18th inst, they captured vast quantities of firearms, cartridges, and bomb-throwers.

RUSSIAN PROGRESS WEST OF ERZERUM.

PETROGRAD, April 20.

A communiqué states that the Russians west of Erzerum dislodged the Turks from a series of strongly fortified positions.

AERIAL ACTIVITY ON ITALIAN FRONT.

ROME, April 19.

Official reports show aerial brinks in the northern Adriatic.

Four French and Italian hydroplanes, escorted by torpedo-boats, effectively bombarded military points near Trieste.

Austrian aeroplanes appeared on the return journey but they were beaten off.

Enemy aeroplanes attempted to approach Venice last night, but were driven off by anti-aircraft guns. One was brought down and the crew captured.

GERMAN PIRATE SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT.

LONDON, April 20.

A telegram from Wilmington, Delaware, states that a German stowaway who was discovered on board the British steamer Matoppe has been sentenced to imprisonment for life for piracy.

The Matoppe was proceeding on a voyage from New York to Vladivostok. An earlier telegram reporting the stowaway's arrest said: "The German attempted to assume command by the aid of two revolvers. He admits that he was a German spy and that he had been ordered to blow up the ship; but he refrained from doing so owing to the presence on board of the Captain's wife and daughter. The Captain is convinced that the man was formerly in the German Navy."

FALL OF TREBIZOND.

A GREAT BATTLE.

CO-OPERATION OF RUSSIAN FLEET.

PETROGRAD, April 19.

The official communiqué recording the capture of Trebizond says that the united efforts of the army and fleet were crowned with success by the capture of the most important fortified town on the Anatolian coast.

The Caucasian troops, after a bloody encounter on the 14th inst., on the river Kartdassari, unceasingly pressed on the heels of the Turks, surmounting terrible obstacles in the face of furious resistance. The Russians, under cover of the fleet, effected a landing, the warships powerfully assisting the artillery.

A WELCOME "EASTER EGG."

LATER.

Only optimists expected General Yudenich, the conqueror of Erzerum, to present Russia an "Easter egg" in the shape of Trebizond where the Turks were known to have an army corps. It was expected that the Turks would defend the town most desperately, as it is the starting point of the great caravans eastwards.

The success is a triumph of the co-ordination of the fleet with the Caucasus army and the Russian forces holding the Turks in the heart of Asia Minor. The Turks, believing that the recent appearance of the cruiser Breslau in the Black Sea would cause the Russian fleet to abandon co-operation with the land forces, constructed no shore batteries. Not anticipating a naval bombardment they limited the defences to elaborate wire entanglements. These were demolished by a vigorous bombardment by the warships, and an infantry attack followed.

When the Turkish resistance in the Bahur region is overcome there will be no further obstacle to the junction of the two groups of Russian armies on the coast and west of Erzerum, and Russians to the solid advance of the front based on the sea, will be useless. The Turks in Mesopotamia will then be cut off.

HONGKONG LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

A meeting of the Legislative Council was held this afternoon.

H.E. the Governor, Sir F. HENRY MAY, K.C.M.G., presided. There were also present:

H.E. Major General F. VANTERS, General Officer Commanding.

The Colonial Secretary, Hon. Mr. CRAIG.

The Attorney-General, Hon. Mr. J. H. KEMP.

The Director of Public Works, Hon. Mr. W. CHITAM, C.M.G.

The Secretary of Chinese Affairs, Hon. Mr. E. R. HARRIS.

The Captain Sept. of Police Hon. Mr. McI. MESSER.

Hon. Mr. Wai YUK, C.M.G.

Hon. Mr. D. LAMPAL.

Hon. Mr. LAY CHOW PAH.

Hon. Mr. F. T. BOYDAR.

Mr. A. G. M. FLETCHER, Clerk of Council.

THE LATE SIR THOMAS JACKSON.

The Colonial Secretary asked leave to lay on the table letters and resolutions touching the death of Sir Thomas Jackson and a reply from Lady Jackson as under:—

Stansted House,

Stansted, Essex,

2nd February, 1918.

Dear Sir,—I beg to acknowledge your letter of 13th December, and must ask you please to convey to His Excellency the Governor and to the Members of the Executive and Legislative Councils of Hongkong, my sincere thanks for their most kind Resolutions of sympathy, and their touching appreciation of Sir Thomas Jackson.—I am, Sir, Yours faithfully,

S. A. R. JACKSON.

TO PUNISH INCEST.

The Attorney-General moved the first reading of a bill intituled "An Ordinance to provide for the punishment of incest," the object of which was to introduce the provisions of the Punishment of Incest Act 1908.

The Colonial Secretary seconded.

MORE LEGISLATION CONTROLLING TRADING WITH ENEMIES.

An Ordinance to provide for the extension of the Restrictions relating to Trading with the Enemy to Persons to whom, though not resident or carrying on Business in Enemy Territory, it is by reason of their Enemy Nationality or Enemy Associations expedient to extend such Restrictions," was introduced by the Attorney-General.

The "Objects and Reasons" state:—The bill is to apply in Hongkong the provisions of the Trading with the Enemy (Extension of Powers) Act, 1915, which gives His Majesty power to prohibit trading with persons and bodies of persons in enemy territory or in territory in the occupation of the enemy (other than persons or bodies of persons residing or carrying on business solely within His Majesty's dominions) whenever by reason of the enemy nationality or enemy association of such persons or bodies of persons it appears to His Majesty expedient to do so.

The Colonial Secretary seconded.

COLONIAL REGISTRATION.

The Attorney-General moved the first reading of a bill to provide for the registration of certain persons.

The object of the Bill is to provide for the registration of all persons in the Colony other than the following:

(a) Persons already under direct Government control, and the wives and daughters of such persons;

(b) Persons of Chinese nationality;

(c) Persons not exceeding 18 years of age.

The Bill applies to all persons except:—

(1) Members of His Majesty's Regular Naval or Military Forces;

(2) Civilians in the permanent employment of the Colonial Government or of the Naval or Military authorities;

(3) Members of the Hongkong Volunteer Corps, Hongkong Volunteer Reserve, Hongkong Police Force or Special Police Reserve;

(4) The wives and daughters of persons included in any of the three classes specified above;

(5) Persons of Chinese nationality;

(6) Persons not exceeding 18 years of age.

The Attorney General said it was not possible to circulate the bill before the meeting and he proposed to take the first reading then in order to avoid calling a special meeting.

The Colonial Secretary seconded.

FACILITATING MARRIAGES.

The Attorney General moved the first reading of a Bill intituled "An Ordinance to facilitate marriages between British subjects resident in the Colony and British subjects resident in the United Kingdom."

The "Objects and Reasons" state:—The Marriage of British Subjects (Facilities) Act, 1915, 5 and 6 Geo. 5, c. 40, was enacted in order to facilitate marriages between British subjects resident in the United Kingdom and British subjects resident in other parts of His Majesty's dominions, the object being to enable the marriage to be celebrated immediately on the arrival of the intended spouse from the Colony or from the United Kingdom as the case may be. It provides for the recognition, for the purpose of marriage, in the United Kingdom, of certificates of notice of marriage issued in other parts of His Majesty's dominions, and it enables certificates for marriage to be issued in the United Kingdom for the purpose of marriages in other parts of His Majesty's dominions. These provisions, however, in the case of any particular colony, depend on the Act being applied to that colony by Order in Council, and a condition precedent to the issue of any such Order in Council is the enactment of reciprocal legislation in that colony.

The Colonial Secretary seconded.

THE LOCAL YARN MARKET.

Messrs. Polishwalla &amp; Kotwell, cotton yarn brokers, of Hongkong, in their circular issued yesterday state:—

Barring two or three parcels that went through in the beginning of the fortnight, there has been next to nothing in the way of business the period throughout. Business discussion has given precedence to speculation as to the final outcome of the political chaos which has unhappily spread throughout the length and breadth of China, bringing life and property into jeopardy. The entire trade has come to a dead halt, and the crisis has been precipitated by the smart rise in exchange which is expected to go still higher. The fates seem to have conspired against the market. The near future is gloomier than ever and there is no option for the dealers and importers alike but to wait and watch the trend of events. Total sales 500 bales. Rates may be taken to have receded $2.3 per bale. Sold and unsold stocks in godowns, 58,000 bales.

This bill contains the local legislation which is necessary before an Order in Council can be issued applying the Act to the Colony of Hongkong.

The Colonial Secretary seconded.

FINANCES FOR 1915.

There was also laid upon the table a statement of the financial returns for 1915 which showed a debit balance of $452,880.84 on liabilities over assets. A statement of expenditures on works chargeable to Loan Funds was as under:—

Railway Construction up to 31st December, 1914.....$14,000,000.00

During 1915.....506,340.68

Total up to 31st December, 1915.....$14,506,340.68

Advanced from Special Fund (21,100,000 as above).....$11,539,618.78

Charged to Special Expenditure, Railway Department.....4,062,388.59

Total.....$14,506,340.68

The Colonial Secretary said that in the unavoidable absence of the Hon. Colonial Treasurer, he thought it was desirable to make a short statement on the assets and liabilities of the Colony as they now appeared. From the statement of assets and liabilities on Dec. 31st, 1915, it would appear at first sight that a very unfavourable change took place during the year. Honourable members would remember that the balance of assets over liabilities from 31st Dec. 1914, was $2,910,473. In the return now submitted a debit balance of $452,880.84 was shown—an apparent loss of $3,363,159.91. In the assets on December 31st last no credit had been taken for the loss of $250,000 which the Colony was authorised to raise, and it was not now proposed to raise that loan. The loan stood in the Treasury books at $2,790,697 and prior to the closing of the railway special account in September a sum of $3,062,389 had been spent over and above the sum derived from the Wuchang Loan. That was to say a sum of $2,790,697, and in addition a sum of $271,692 had been expended on the railway. After September it was arranged in any event to meet capital expenditure out of the revenue. The assets and liabilities had been drawn up in the same form as last year a balance of assets over liabilities on December 31st last would therefore have been $3,062,389 credit in respect of the railway; less a sum of $452,880.84, the actual debit balance now shown. That was the balance of assets over liabilities would have been a sum of $2,609,508.15. He thought that honourable members would agree that the form now adopted showed the state of their finances with greater clearness than had been the case hitherto. In his speech on the estimate H.E. the Governor estimated the balance of assets on December 31st last would be reduced to $1,892,832 taking the figures then adopted. The actual figures he (the speaker) had shown were $2,609,508.15 and the Colony was therefore more than seven lakhs better off at the end of last year than was expected when the estimates were arranged.

OPEN SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIP.

NG SZE KWONG BEATS HANCOCK.

H. Hancock, the finalist of the upper half of the Open Championship Singles, certainly failed to give Ng Sze Kwong, in the concluding match last evening, a fair indication of his knowledge of the game. He went down badly before a less forcible opponent and his defeat can be attributed, not so much to the exhibition of Ng Sze Kwong as to his own weakness and unreliability in this particular match. Hancock seemed to be affected greatly by the heat and there was none of that vim about his play that won for him the many strenuous games he had to contest before reaching the final.

His fore arm work was feeble; thus and again he would drive into the net through bad judgment; while no reliance could be placed in his slices and cuts from the back line, Ng Sze Kwong, possessing marvellous agility, was all over the court returning what appeared to be the most impossible ball. Only occasionally did Hancock touch the edge of his game and at these times he had his opponent "beat". The fault was that Hancock did not force the play as he should have done and what happened to Hancock happened to him also, for he was beaten in the first three sets and the energy which he had reserved was wasted. Ng Sze Kwong, proved in his match with Hancock that to go through five sets required immense stamina and he adopted the tactics displayed in that match, playing on the ground when the game was young; a time from the outset Hancock appeared to have only a remote chance of winning. Both men played a slow and somewhat tedious game that contained hardly any brilliant exchanges. When Hancock volleyed hard Ng Sze Kwong would content to let to various points and then he cleverly won Hancock down and then took advantage of every available opportunity to force a vigorous exchange from the back line and then finish. But his smashes were weakly weak and gave Hancock splendid chances of benefiting his score but for some reason or other he could not successfully retaliate. Ng Sze Kwong led from the word "go" and when the second set was half way through, Hancock shook his head in despair. Humming balls, check balls, slices and swerves were all the same to Ng Sze Kwong; he was there and returned—generally timid—efforts that should have caused a player of Hancock's standing no anxiety whatever.

Literally it was a walk over for the Chinese. After winning the first set 7-5, he fought hard and took game after game. He excelled in this set while Hancock was seriously worried because his returns would not mount the net. The set was won by 6-1, a feature being the clever way in which the Chinese player took a number of games when they were 40-love against him. He played up during many hot exchanges and forced the games to be limited to only two in the set was he able to claim game. The set went to Ng Sze Kwong by 6-2.

Ng Sze Kwong has now to meet Green the holder of the championship, and considering the different styles of the men and Green's hard play the latter should win. Ng Sze Kwong must, however, not be taken too easily.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Green and Ng Sze Kwong will meet on Wednesday April 26th.

OTHER FINALS.

The Veterans' Final between H. W. Blad and Dr. Rock v. Hastings and T. J. Smith will be played to-night.

The final of the Mixed Doubles between S. H. Dowell and Miss Wilkinson v. Mr. and Mrs. Nisbet will be played to-night.

Green and Claxton v. Crisp and Hamilton will play off the final of the Professional Pairs on April 26th.
